

Kerner Address—

Urges Canal To Aid Southern Illinois

BELLEVIEW, Ill. (AP)—Gov. Otto Kerner says building a canal on the lower Kaskaskia River will open a new era for Southern Illinois by providing low cost barge transportation for vast undeveloped coal fields.

He predicted a number of big industries would be attracted to the area by low-cost coal for power. The canal proposal is pending before Congress.

The governor's address was read to a $10-a-plate fund-raising dinner in Belleville Thursday night by Sen. James Gray of Belleville. Kerner was unable to attend the dinner.

The banquet was sponsored by the Kaskaskia Industrial Development Corp., a group promoting construction of a 60½ million dollar canal on the river, from Fayetteville in St. Clair County to near Chester where it joins the Mississippi River.

Kerner also cited the recreational aspects of the proposed 45-mile canal.

"When the channel is deepened, I see the Kaskaskia River becoming a water playground for hundreds of pleasure craft owners," Kerner said.

Kerner added that his administration is "determined to bring new industry to Southern Illinois."

The governor described the canal project as "one answer to the problem of industrial growth in Southern Illinois."

"It's effect will be felt immediately by tapping the reserve of unskilled labor now unemployed in this area, and putting these men to work," he said.

"Actually," Kerner said, "the men hired to work on the Kaskaskia River project will be building the future of the region."

Bishops Refuse Church Title For Trujillo

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The Dominican Republic's Roman Catholic bishops have rejected a government request that they bestow a church title on Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo.

The refusal could mean renewed trouble between the church and Trujillo's government.

President Joaquin Balaguer last month asked the bishops to award Trujillo, the country's real ruler, the title of "Benefactor of the Catholic Church of the Dominican Republic."

The bishops, in a letter published Thursday in the pro-government newspaper El Caribe, said such titles are handed out only by the Vatican.

The bishops added, however, that they appreciated the favors and gifts the church has received from Trujillo.

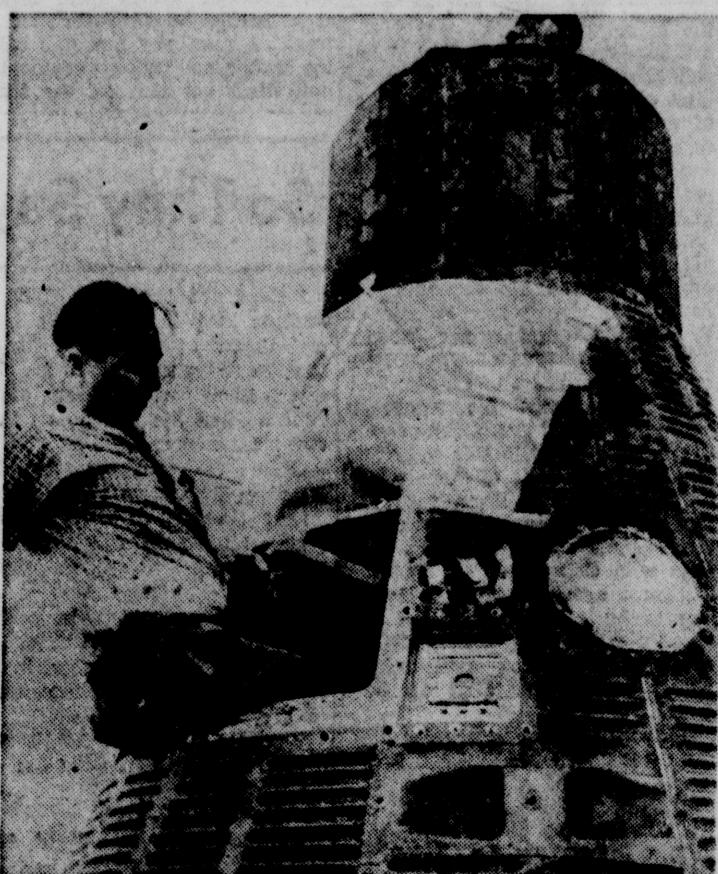

"You can rest assured that we appreciate both privately and publicly these benefits, favors and gifts ordered for the common welfare," the bishops said.

The letter was signed by Msgrs. Octavio A. Beras, coadjutor archbishop and apostolic administrator; Hugo E. Polanco, bishop of Santiago de Los Caballeros; Francisco P. Pagan, bishop of La Vega; Juan P. Pagan, bishop of La Altagracia; and Tomas F. Reilly, bishop of Temisno and prelate of San Juan de la Magdalena.

It is estimated that $30 million has been spent in works for the Catholic Church here at the initiative of Trujillo.

A church-government rift developed in January 1960 when the bishops in a pastoral letter urged clemency for persons arrested in an anti-Communist plot. The church accused the government of using repressive measures.

The National Catholic Welfare Conference in Washington has accused Trujillo of conducting an anti-Catholic campaign. The Catholic agency said at least 46 priests were expelled last year. It also cited violent attacks on the church by the government-controlled press.

Russ Ask Report On UN Progress In Congo

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union pressed today for an immediate report on United Nations progress in forcing military and political advisers out of the Congo.

In a move obviously intended to harass the U.N. operation in the Congo and Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin complained Thursday that three days had passed since the Security Council adopted its new peace plan for the Congo but council members had been given no information on withdrawal measures.

The Soviets did not endorse the peace plan originally, abstaining when the council voted. And Zorin's arithmetic was in error, since he wrote two days after the council action early Tuesday.

The resolution authorized U.N. troops to use force if necessary to end fighting in the Congo and called for reorganization of the Congo army along nonpolitical lines as well as withdrawal of Belgian and other foreign military and political personnel not attached to the U.N. But Zorin ignored the other features of the plan and declared: "The subversive activity of Belgian personnel and mercenaries still remains the chief cause of tension in the Congo."

The Soviet delegate, who is boycotting Hammarskjold, directed his protest to Sir Patrick Dean of Britain, Security Council president for February.

Hammarskjold met Thursday for the third time with his Congo advisory committee to discuss ways of putting the peace plan into effect. He scheduled another meeting for today.

So far no announcements have emerged from these meetings, but reports from the Congo pictured the U.N. command there as cautious.

Floods Rout Over 5,000

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A forecast of scattered showers for today held little more than nuisance value for water-logged Southerners. Floods and the threat of floods remained serious in the lower reaches of Gulf Coast states as waters from six straight days of rain rushed southward.

Rescue operations are in full swing at Hattiesburg, Miss., where the Leaf River rose nine feet past flood stage. More than 5,000 persons were displaced by high waters. Two children drowned there when a rescue boat capsized.

Congolese Troops On Rampage

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Congolese soldiers, apparently bored with waiting for the start of a military offensive, rampaged through the town of Lisala looting property and molesting women, the United Nations reported today.

A Malayan officer of the small U. N. contingent in the town tried to contact the local district commissioner but the Congolese soldiers stopped him from getting to the commissioner's office.

The civilian population gathered together Thursday for an angry counterdemonstration and marched through the town, threatening to attack the soldiers.

The situation appeared to have quieted by nightfall.

Lisala lies in the eastern area of Equatorial Province, where the Leopoldville army commander, Gen. Joseph Mobutu, has gathered soldiers for an invasion of Lumbumba Oriental Province.

The U. N. military commander, Gen. Sean McKeown of Ireland, conferred with Mobutu Tuesday but told newsmen he had been unable to secure firm pledges that Mobutu would not attack.

The U. N. spokesman quoted unconfirmed reports that detachments of Lumbumba soldiers had reached the vicinity of Lubumbashi, the provincial capital. Kasai is nominally under control of the Leopoldville regime, but its population is strongly pro-Lumbumba.

Cancel Police Leaves In Tense South Rhodesia

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (AP)—All police leaves were cancelled throughout Southern Rhodesia today as the Central African Federation's parliament met to consider action in the mounting conflict between the territory's white minority and the British government.

Federation Prime Minister Roy Welensky, a militant defender of white supremacy, was expected to ask the Parliament for an election in which the voters could declare for or against immediate independence from British rule.

Welensky called the emergency session of Parliament after the British government announced its determination to put into effect a new constitution for the protectorate of Northern Rhodesia, which with the Nyasaland protectorate and self-governing Southern Rhodesia form the federation.

The constitution would give more Negroes the vote and assure them at least one-third of the seats on the Northern Rhodesia legislative council.

With almost all of the federation's seven million blacks denied the vote and the 300,000 whites mostly in favor of continued white rule, any election is certain to endorse independence. That in turn probably would touch off serious disorder in Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland, where the blacks already want to secede from the white-dominated federation.

Welensky on Wednesday mobilized the 5,000-man army reserve in Northern and Southern Rhodesia and rushed extra police forces into Northern Rhodesia.

A militant white organization in Northern Rhodesia called the Federal Fighting Force Thursday declared its loyalty to Welensky.

Sharp identified the parolés as Don Phelps, 25, who served a term for armed robbery in San Quentin Penitentiary. He was held without charge for questioning.

Fred Zeigler, Grayville resident who happened to drive by during Sharp's struggle with Phelps, stunned Phelps with a blow to the head.

Sharp quoted Phelps as saying he was on his way to the Arthur Coles Monument Co. to gain revenge on Coles and an employee, Francis Sporrer. Phelps was fired as an employee of the firm last month.

Phelps was stopped by Sharp for reckless driving. Sharp said a forcing motorists off Carmi streets and onto sidewalks in some cases.

Two bottles of tranquilizing drug were found in Phelps' car along with an unopened bottle of wine. He was carrying two pocket knives in addition to a shotgun, sawed off to 27 inches.

Sales Tax Ruling

Bar Collection On U.S. Business

CHICAGO (AP)—A three-judge federal court today ruled unconstitutional collection of $18 million a year in sales taxes by the State of Illinois from retailers doing business with U.S. government agencies.

After reading the nine-page decision finding the application of taxes to federal government business was discriminatory, Judge Walter J. LaBuy signed a permanent injunction barring such collections.

With LaBuy on the special court panel was Judge Win G. Knook of the U.S. Court of Appeals and District Judge Edwin A. Robson.

The suit stemmed from refusal by Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. of New York to pay $27,036 levied under the state 3-per cent sales or retailers' occupational tax.

Suit was filed by the firm Aug. 29 seeking a court order to bar collection. The federal government joined the suit as a plaintiff.

The complaint asserted that collections from 550 firms dealing with federal agencies affected $600 million a year in purchases.

Raymond S. Sarno, assistant Illinois attorney general, said the decision will be appealed directly to the U.S. Supreme Court.

First Data On Air At 100 Miles

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP)—A nine-foot balloon went to an altitude of 100 miles, sending back information on atmospheric density as it fell back to earth. The Air Force said it was the first direct measurement of density between 70 and 130 miles. The balloon Thursday was lifted by a 15-foot Nike-Cajun rocket launched from nearby Santa Rosa Island. The inflatable balloon was deployed 76 seconds after the launching and coasted to 100 miles high.

Two New Solons From Illinois Add Kin To Staff

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two new Illinois congressmen have added relatives to their staffs, making a total of at least five representatives from the state who employ their kin.

Rep. Edward P. Finnegan, D-Chicago, has withdrawn his 29-year-old daughter, Moira, from her political studies at Northwestern University to gain "practical experience" for three months, an aide said. Miss Finnegan received a January salary of $308, House payroll records show.

Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Rockford, has hired his sister-in-law, Miss Rita Machakos, formerly of Boston, Mass., as his secretary. Miss Machakos was paid $511 for January.

At least three other Illinois House members employ relatives identifiable from payroll records.

John J. Kaufer has worked for his brother-in-law, Rep. Thomas J. O'Brien, D-Chicago, the last 28 years. Kaufer drew $1,195 for last month.

Thomas W. Gray, who runs the Washington office of his son, Rep. Kenneth J. Gray, D-West Frankfort, received a $733 salary.

Raymond Price, has been employed by his brother, Rep. Melvin J. Price, D-East St. Louis, for the last five or six years. He received $463 in January.

Shutdown Cost In Millions

Seek Remedy For Cause Of Trouble

NEW YORK (AP)—Airports around the nation hummed with activity again today and the big passenger planes zoomed into the air in increasing numbers with the end of a flight engineers' strike.

The six-day work stoppage, worst tieup in American aviation history, cost crippled airlines an estimated $40 million.

Many more millions were lost by vacation resorts and industries connected with air travel. Railroads and bus lines reaped an unexpected revenue harvest, however.

For Longer-Term Help—

Takes Multi-Million Aid Plan To Congress

By EDMOND LE BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges goes to Capitol Hill today to promote another multi-million dollar item in President Kennedy's economic program—aid for chronically depressed areas.

A House banking subcommittee opens hearings on the bill, which would set up a $300 million revolving fund for loans to help establish industries in areas hit hard by long term unemployment. The measure also would provide $75 million in grants for public facilities and smaller sums for planning and the retraining of the unemployed.

The new hearings follow by only one day the winding up of another committee's work on Kennedy's proposal for a billion-dollar extension of unemployment insurance benefits. The House expects to open debate Wednesday on this bill, the administration's No. 1 priority measure.

Concessions to Republicans and business views on financing the program appeared to assure passage. Scheduled for final action Monday is a supplementary measure to provide benefits for the children of unemployed breadwinners like those available to families when fathers die, disappear or become disabled.

The Kennedy administration hopes to have the extra unemployment insurance payments (Continued On Page Nine) Freeman has asked authority to boost recent corn supports of $1.06 a bushel to $1.20 next year for feed grain growers who cut plantings 20 per cent.

On the retired land, farmers collect these levels on 60 per cent of recent average production, or about 72 cents a bushel.

Freeman's proposal to pay for additional cropland retirement—$1.06 to 40 per cent—has been approved already in government hands drew sharp criticism of the Senate hearing.

Some witnesses and senators contended this was a threat to pay prices of corn and other feed grains as a means to force farmers into the reduction program.

Makes 'Mild' Show Of Nuclear Powered Sub's Evasive Action

By RALPH DIGHTON

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—"Dive: Dive!"

Somewhere in the vitals of a humpback monster called SSBN 600 a horn sounds and the deck drops away beneath your feet.

A hundred, 200, 300, 400 feet and more you plunge in bare minutes.

Except for the slanting floor, you could be in a fast dropping elevator.

Your "elevator" however, is the Polaris submarine Theodore Roosevelt, commissioned last week at the fourth of America's new underwater missile launchers.

Comdr. Bill Sims took her down on a test dive Thursday for 5 newsmen, first ever to take a cruise on a ballistic missile submarine.

He put on quite a show—a "mild" demonstration of evasive action the 300-foot nuclear-powered submarine could take if attacked.

There was no sensation of depths inside the three-storied hull. The only indication was a whirling dial in front of the helmsman who steers not with a wheel but with an airplane type control stick.

Submerging was a slow process—it took two minutes to get down to 100 feet. There the ship leveled off for a brief interval while a reading of 300 feet was cranked into its automatic controls.

The dive began at 10:16 a.m. The deck slanted like a deep chute and those who were not prepared had a hard time keeping their footing.

At 10:19 a.m. the dial read 300 feet. The landlubbers aboard began to relax.

Foolish people. Suddenly the deck slanted again.

Camera boxes slid. The depth dial spun to 400 feet and on beyond. Military secrecy prevents disclosure of any depth below 400 feet, but the dial spun quite a way beyond 400 feet.

The speed indicator spun past 20 knots to a figure which again is secret.

After an hour submerged the Roosevelt banked sharply to the left, then to the right and began the 20-mile trip back to port.

On the home trip newsmen made a tour of a section of the crew called "Sherwood Forest." Here are the 30-foot-high tubes in which 18 solid fuel Polaris missiles are carried upright, ready for instant firing.

The Roosevelt carried no live missiles Thursday. These will be installed after it reaches Cape Canaveral, Fla., for a series of test firings in the Atlantic.

Promises Action Next On Farm Program

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., today promised action early next week on the initial farm request of President Kennedy—a proposal aimed at a cutback in surplus production of corn and other livestock grains.

Ellender, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said he hopes the House can act first, but added in an interview:

"I don't want this committee to be blamed if Congress fails to act in time."

Ellender's committee heard testimony Thursday on what Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman called "an emergency one-year crash program to deal with our feed grain crisis."

After listening to both strong criticism and vocal support for the plan to reduce planting and surpluses of corn and other feed grains, Ellender said committee members were sharply divided on the program.

All witnesses and even senators agreed on one point: unless Congress completes legislation before March 15 it might as well not try.

Editorial Comment

No Time For Dissension

The deepening Congo crisis is the most disturbing the world has faced since Korea 11 years ago.

The Russians moved with incredible boldness to exploit the death of Patrice Lumumba, both to establish Communist control in the Congo and to destroy the United Nations as a force for world order.

The maneuvering in the Congo and the attacks on the U.N. and Dag Hammarskjöld we have known before. Never, however, have these been pursued by the Soviet Union with such ruthless vigor and such open contempt for world opinion.

To pacify the Congo and preserve the U.N. in these extremely difficult circumstances is a monumental task. President Kennedy and other free world leaders, acting both through the U.N. and as national leaders, will be tested to the very limit of their energies and diplomatic skills.

Kennedy already has warned Moscow that any major one-sided intervention by the Communists in the Congo would carry with it grave risk of war. He also has indicated that we will continue to lend our full backing to the U.N. authority now in the Congo.

Will Russia be deterred?

We must hope it will be. Yet there is little encouragement in the events we are witnessing.

The largely organized demonstrations on both sides of the Iron Curtain reached new depths of disgracefulness. Though the full extent of Communist direction and participation is not in every case clear, particularly as to demonstrations in this country, it is plain that the Kremlin finds much benefit from this shocking exploitation.

The reckless undercutting of the U.N. leaves that organization teetering on the edge of collapse. Were its pacifying mission to fail in the Congo, that might be the beginning of a fatal decline.

Those who have the greatest stake in seeing that this does not happen are the very African nations most closely affected by the crisis in the Congo. The U.N. is their protective shield.

This is, above all, the moment for them to rally with all nations wedded to peace and independence, to bring the turbulent Congo under control and to save the U.N. from destruction.

More Than Fireworks

It is sometimes hard for the average person to see how money spent on gadgets that are shot into space may one day benefit his everyday life. One example is the solar battery, familiar as the little studs or plates on the surface of satellites.

Already commercial solar cells are powering radios or being used to maintain the charge in storage batteries in outpost regions. In the future, solar batteries will power radio transmitters for remote weather stations and run water pumps in arid areas of the world.

The free energy of the sun, striking the earth every day, is tremendous and limitless, and scarcely tapped.

These Jibes Are Conjured To Make Artist Smash His Easel

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks of a notorious artist gets tired of hearing:

"I only know what I know about art—

but I know what I like."

"As his last one-man show, the only picture he sold was one of the gallery hung upside down."

"They all look like they're hung upside down to me."

"His yearbook in art school predicted that 'Some day the name of Ellsworth Twittinger will be one to conjure with.' But so far all he has lived up to is the last syllable of it."

"He must be in his blue period. Anybody who paints the way he does couldn't be anything but blue."

"This one called 'Nude descending a moonbeam' isn't half-bad, but tell me—which is the moonbeam and which is the nude?"

"Ellsworth, I've got a commission for you at last. It's from the landlord. He says if you'll paint the other apartments in the building, he'll cancel our back rent."

"I understand he started out by painting signs, and then his career went steadily downhill."

"Never mind explaining to me what it is. Just tell me why it is."

"If my kid couldn't draw better than that, the teacher would throw him out of kindergarten."

"My dear, his work is simply too on par to be classed with the really avant garde, don't you think?"

"What I mean is, he's sort of a frigid one Gauguin substituting igloos for Tahitian huts."

"Of course this painting lacks a sense of perspective. If he had a real sense of perspective, he'd have become a plumber."

"Last year the judges ignored his mural depicting high points in the life of a used car salesman, and instead gave third prize to his paint cloth which happened to be hanging on a chair nearby."

"His only published works are three drawings a psychiatrist brought to illustrate a book on abnormal psychology."

"Some call him a post-impressionist. Others say he's really a cubist at heart. But my girl friend used to date him, and she says he's strictly a square."

"Original? He isn't even aboriginal!"

"What did he paint this one with—a brush or his beard?"

"I admit his paintings give me a sense of mystery. But the biggest mystery is—why did he put a $500 price tag on them?"

"Why do they hang his pictures why not him?"

Copycats of 'Jackie Look'

Misread Her Fashion Tips

When it comes to fashion women are like a bunch of sheep—always ready and willing to loosely play follow the leader.

Jacqueline Kennedy is out front now and women are lining up for the 'Jackie look'—imitating her hairdo, studying her clothes, getting set to follow wherever she leads.

The beautiful young First Lady had a fashion message for American women, all right. But they have misread it.

The message wasn't "Look as I Look," but "Do as I Do." What Mrs. Kennedy has done is make herself a distinctive personality—by not to copy anyone but to emphasize her own kind of beauty.

By wearing what most becomes her and making herself outstanding by emphasizing her own individuality.

She has done that so well that women are ready to get in line behind her and do their best to be carbon copies of the original.

Rather, they ought to borrow her fashion philosophy, instead of her hairdo. They should adopt her determination to be herself.

They not only owe that to themselves. They owe it to the First Lady. If she has achieved a "look" that is distinctly her own, why should she have to look at carbon copies of herself all over the place?

It wasn't a woman who said that imitation is the sincerest form of flattery.

Any woman who has achieved individually doesn't thank any other woman for being a copycat.

In actual life every great enterprise begins with and takes its first forward step in Faith—August W. Schlegel.

I don't use the word "genius" lightly. My friend has it—a unique ability to communicate with children who have broken the law. Out of all the words in the language, my friend chooses those exact ones that can be understood by the cursing, sullen or falsely submissive boys who are brought to him, by the just-arrested, dazed or screaming girls. Nearly always, his words, or his equally perceptive silence, evokes trust—the tearing rush of sob which says, "At last I can cry. With this man my weakness is safe."

Yet my friend's adolescent son often attacks him fiercely. Don't smile. Don't think to yourself, "Aha! The expert with other people's children can't win trust from his own!" You would be wrong.

My friend's son trusts him deeply. That is the problem. He feels such trust and respect for his father that feeling some for himself as an individual becomes a painful and lonely struggle.

On the one hand he is forced to differ from his father because of the search for his own identity. On the other hand his appreciation of his father's goodness forces him to think, "What does opposition to dad make out of me—a fool, a bad boy?"

So his differences with his father are savage because he distrusts himself.

When adolescent children strike out at us, it does not mean that they feel contempt for us. Usually, the harder they strike at us, the more they respect us.

What they are hitting at is not us at all but the trust they feel for us which they cannot yet feel for themselves.

Awareness of this can help us endure the inevitable hurts and loneliness we feel as adolescent children divide themselves from us by opposition. We need to remember it when they start attacking everything that is meaningful to us from our moral values to our long-admired recipe for salad dressing. If we do, we can sometimes see that our loneliness is as nothing compared to the loneliness of our opposing youngster.

He can't go back to his childhood's trust of us if he is to become a man. Yet we are the people who still know more than he does, who have been right more often than he has, who can see farther than he can. The move forward into trust of himself is a lonely journey.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Soviet

Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov is going all out for "lunchmanship" on the New Frontier. He has been inviting top administration officials, including Cabinet members to lunch separately with either him or one of his aides at the embassy.

Some New Frontiersmen have accepted. Others have had prior commitments.

PARACHUTING is the favorite pastime of 37-year-old William H. Tucker, new interstate commerce commissioner.

The former Railway Bus Company lawyer, 82nd Airborne Division paratrooper and veteran pilot started leaping from planes for fun in 1950. Since then he has made

15-20 jumps a year, all with a black parachute.

Tucker explains his enthusiasm like this:

"It's more relaxing than golf."

THE AMERICAN LEGION served early American cocktails at its

George Washington party. Favorite drink was "A Yard of Flannel," which Legion hosts found in a recipe book called "The Virginia

Hostesses." The book was complied by the ladies guild of the Politch church, near Mount Vernon, where the first president worshipped.

The drink is composed of warm ale, beaten eggs, nutmeg, sugar and Jamaica rum.

SECRETARY OF STATE Dean

Rusk told the American-German

Council meeting here a story about his university days in Potsdam, to illustrate the point that the free world nations should not offer temptations to international thieves —and you know whom he meant by that.

He took a canoe out on Potomac

Lake, Rusk said. Leaving it on the bank while he went to get a sandwich, he returned to find that the canoe had been stolen. He reported the theft to the police.

In a short time they reported back to him that the stolen canoe had been found, the thieves caught and that they would be punished.

Then they told student Rusk:

"You will be fined five marks for tempting thieves."

REP. SIDNEY R. YAT (D-Ill.) tells this one:

A friend had been invited to a wedding reception and was receiving instructions on how to get to the apartment.

"You push the doorbell with your elbow," the host explained. "When the buzzer sounds, put your knee against the door and push hard because it's hard to open."

The friend asked, "Why do I have to use my elbow and my knee?"

Replied the host, "Well, you're not coming empty handed, are you?"

ACTOR JAMES STEWART, who holds the rank of brigadier general in the Air Force reserves, showed up for two weeks' active duty in the Pentagon and noted that the public information office was quieter than he had ever seen it. Quipped

Stewart:

"Last time I was here was when the big training manual uproar was going on. That was a real megaton flap. This year all the flaps are just the pilot variety."

JOHN COSGROVE, National

Press Club president, introduced

Stewart at the NPC's weekly buffet dinner and declared:

"I'm sure members will consider this the biggest treat since the club started serving food with its meals."

WASHINGTON (AP)—President

Kennedy is following the Lyndon

Johnson plan for getting things done.

It's simple: Use the modest approach which asks for less than everything.

Vice President Johnson used it repeatedly when he was the Senate's Democratic majority leader from 1954 through 1960.

He avoided asking action on all he might have requested in order to avoid arousing extreme opposition which might have resulted in no action at all.

While this may have created an image of Johnson as a reasonable middle-roader, his critics complained he settled for too little.

But he did get action which otherwise might have been impossible.

One good example: He got through Congress this century's first civil rights bills over Southern Democratic opposition which however, was mild. But so were the bills.

Kennedy, whether or not Johnson persuaded him to the same kind of course, has stopped short of going all-out in the programs

he has asked Congress to approve

"In February"
Theodore Evans, who resides southwest of Winchester, tells us that he has a fish story that really is a snake story and obtained a neighbor as witness of the story's validity. Just last week Mr. Evans reports killing a snake of the garden variety and about two feet in length. Since snakes are rarely seen in the middle of February Mr. Evans showed it to a neighbor before giving the story to the newspaper.

AN OPEN LETTER FROM CRIT HANELINE, REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR IN THE PRIMARY ELECTION TUES., FEB. 28, 1961

Dear Voter:

I have lived in Jacksonville since 1912. The Haneline family has been in this county since 1878. My two daughters were born here and educated in our public school system. My wife and I were married here, she died here and is at rest in Diamond Grove Cemetery. My personal life and my interests are wrapped up in this town and it is truly my home. I have operated my own business here as sole owner since 1933.

I served as an alderman from the fourth ward for four years, from May 1949 to May 1953. During this period I was finance chairman and in this capacity I had a part in every operation of the city administration. During this period the city council was unusually busy due to the building boom, the formation of the new zoning ordinance and the building of Mrs. Tucker's plant. The building of this plant took many hours of the council's efforts for more than two years to work out power, water and sewer services, etc. This was well worth while for it is a fine addition to the industry of our city. I had to become a student of municipal government to be able to function properly in my position. For this reason I feel justified in saying that I am qualified to fill the position of mayor.

I know how the city should be operated. How to furnish adequate services and still keep within a reasonable budget. I am aware of the problems our industry has presented to the city and I am aware of the methods necessary for their solution.

As an individual business owner I will not be called on to take a part in negotiations with the city as an employee of industry for power, water and sewer rates which actually constitutes a conflict of interests.

If you feel that my past experience and present ability qualify me for the office of mayor, then mark my name on the Republican ballot on Tuesday, February 28 next.

Sincerely,
Crit Haneline

BRIDGE TO GOD'S WORLD

The bridge, what a miracle! Tons of steel hanging in air . . . spanning miles of water . . . supporting an unending line of cars like so many ants.

And what a boon to man! The bridge saves untold hours and opens up new vistas of life.

The bridge of prayer, what a miracle! Spanning Heaven and Earth . . . carrying the needs and hopes of believing hearts. What a boon to man! The bridge of prayer opens up new paths of creative living and vistas into the realm of Heaven.

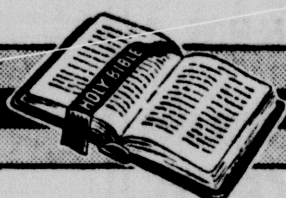

In Church you can discover prayer—the bridge which leads to God's world.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Separation Of Church, State No Issue In China—It's All State

By EDWIN Q. WHITE
TOKYO (AP) — Official Communist accounts of religious activity in Red China emphasize there is no question of separation of church and state.

On the surface at least, it's all state.

The New China News Agency Chinese "Protestant" churches was held recently in Shanghai. It said 345 representatives of Protestant churches from 25 provinces, municipalities and autonomous regions attended.

The fact that such a meeting reports a national conference of was held openly on the Red mainland might appear to indicate an active religious movement there. But the Communist agency's account of the conference proceedings made it sound more like a gathering of the commune cadre.

NCNA said conference speakers "pointed out with satisfaction that the Chinese Protestant churches had made great achievements in their patriotic, anti-imperialist movement in the past 10 years." It said they had transformed themselves from an instrument of imperialist aggression into churches administered by Chinese Protestants themselves.

The church conference described as "unprecedented the achievements of the Chinese people under the leadership of the Communist party and Chairman Mao Tse-tung and guided by the three Red banners—the general line for building socialism, the big leap forward and the people's communes."

NCNA said the conference representatives called for vigilance against imperialism, "especially U.S. imperialism." The United States, it asserted, still is trying by all means to use religion as an instrument of sabotage against China.

In its only other reference to things religious, NCNA's account said the conference representatives "expressed thanks to the Communist party and the people government for their consistent policy of religious freedom and their consideration toward Protestants."

Cass Women Enjoy Program About Indians

VIRGINIA — The Virginia Senior Woman's Club met on Thursday, Feb. 2, at the Wesleyan church at 2 p.m. A short board meeting was held at 1:30, at which it was unanimously voted to donate $50 toward the Playground Project in progress to improve the Waterworks Park.

Due to the inclement weather, the speaker for the afternoon, Mrs. Joe Drinkwater, was unable to travel into town. Mrs. Bernice Thompson very graciously consented to give the report on "The American Indians and Their Future." Mrs. Chester Carls also had procured some material from the State Safety Department, and the members of the club were given a test on the identifying of familiar road signs. This was a very interesting experiment, as well as educational.

Attorney Richard Mills then entertained the group with some beautiful vocal selections. Miss Connie Sue Schaeffer accompanied Mr. Mills at the piano. The meeting was then adjourned for a social hour, which was planned and served by the American Home committee, with Mrs. Zella Mefford, chairman.

The Virginia Classroom Teachers, with A. W. Henderson of the high school faculty, president, presided at the meeting. The meeting was held at the high school after the close of school Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Williams gave an interesting talk on "Professional Ethics."

Harvest Lamb Stew

In any man's book, a stew, a steaming country-style meat stew like grandma used to fix, is just plain good eating.

A harvest stew usually symbolizes the plentiful foods found in your market during the fall season . . . foods such as fresh tomatoes, onions, carrots and green beans. Combine these vegetables with meaty cubes of boneless lamb for stew and you've created a meal fit for the most discerning gourmet.

A stew, as you probably know, is a method of meat cookery employed for less tender meat cuts. Therefore, a long, slow simmering process is used. This slow process not only cooks the meat to a tender doneness, it also gives the other ingredients a chance to blend flavors.

The lamb cubes used for this type of stew are usually cut from the shoulder section of the animal. The boneless lamb cubes for this recipe are first browned in about 3 tablespoons lard or drippings. The recipe calls for 2 pounds of lamb stew cut into 1½-inch cubes.

Brown the meat slowly so that you'll receive a long lasting brown. Turn the cubes slowly so that they will brown evenly on all sides. After browning, pour off any drippings.

Either fresh or canned tomatoes can be used in this lamb stew. If using fresh, cut 6 medium-sized tomatoes into wedges. If using canned, add a 1 pound 13-ounce can. Add the tomatoes to the meat

Petersburg Youth Captures District FFA Contest

David Worthington, Petersburg High School, F. F. A. senior, won the District F. F. A. service production. He won the District competition at Virginia High School Feb. 15 over the other sectional winners from Quincy, Canton, Good Hope and Bluffs.

The district winner was determined by the size and quality of the swine project, efficiency of production, record books, and his knowledge of swine production as determined by personal interview. He is one of the five district winners remaining in the state. The state winner will be selected May 18 at the University of Illinois.

David's swine project of pure-bred Duroc hogs for 1960 included 19 litters—with 93 pigs weaned per litter, feed efficiency of 500 lbs. of feed to produce a 100 lbs. of pork, cost of producing 100 pounds of pork was $9.20, and an outstanding show record.

POLISH NOVEL ON BROADWAY

NEW YORK (AP) — A novel which stirred political and literary controversy when it was published in Poland several years ago is being shaped into a drama for Broadway.

"The Inquisitors" is being adapted by Edward Chodorov from the book by George Andzjevski. The theme concerns Torquemada and the Spanish Inquisition. Leo Kertz and Ninon Talon are aiming for early fall production.

RETURN TO PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — For the first time in more than 100 years, the Methodist Church will hold its quadrennial General Conference, its chief governing meeting, in Pittsburgh in 1964. The last such session here was in 1848.

along with ½ cup coarsely chopped onion. The seasonings are added at this time too . . . 2½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon thyme and 1 teaspoon paprika. For a bit of added flavor, place 2 bay leaves in the stewing kettle. Now, cover the kettle tightly and simmer slowly for 1 hour. The juice from the tomatoes will act as the braising liquid.

The fresh vegetables are added just long enough before the stew is done for them to become tender. After the stew has simmered for an hour, add 2 carrots, cut in ½-inch pieces. Cover and simmer for another 30 minutes. Then add a green pepper cut into ½-inch strips, ½ pound green beans, cut into 1-inch pieces and 3 small zucchini squash cut into ½-inch slices. Simmer an additional 30 minutes or until meat is tender and vegetables are done.

Here's an informal dinner ready for the he-man of your household.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

BIDDING BAD; PLAY IS GOOD

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

North's diamond response to the opening club bid is in line with best modern tactics. He hopes that his partner will be able to show a four card major. South's one spade rebid is in line with worst modern tactics and promptly landed him in a four spade contract.

Since the game was duplicate

Rotarians Hold Farmers Night At Roodhouse

South was decidedly unhappy with the whole thing. He could see 10 top tricks at no-trump and only 10 doubtful tricks at spades.

However, with the aid of a little deception and some favorable breaks he wound up making 11 tricks for a top score.

He won the opening lead with dummy's ace of diamonds; played a club to his ace; and continued with the ten spot.

West should have ruffed right in. His partner had dropped the ten of diamonds on the first lead of the suit so West knew that he would cash two diamond tricks.

ROODHOUSE — One hundred and six men were present Wednesday night at the annual Farmers Night observance held in Hopkins Community Hall at which time farmers in the area were feted by the Rotary Club of Roodhouse. Welcoming the guests was the president of the local club, Carl McAdams.

Program chairman Henry Van Thyle introduced Charles Postel, owner and operator of the Southside Stock Farm near Rockbridge, who showed pictures taken by him last summer while on a trip to Europe. Operating the machine was Howard Powell, also of Rockbridge.

Junior Rotarians present were Ronnie and Donnie Day, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. William Day. Visiting Rotarians included E. E. Oyler, Tom Rusinek, Floyd Cox, and Martin Newman, Jacksonville.

Furnishing vocal music was a quartet of men from Alton, Jerseyville, and Greenfield, the Barnacle Bells. Leading the group singing was Jerry Hagen with Russell Chapman at the piano. Closing the invocation was Rev. Delmer Redmon.

The dinner was served by the wives of the Football Boosters Club. A board meeting followed the regular Rotary meeting.

and West should have been mighty suspicious of that innocent lead of the 10 spot.

Still, if South had led the king he could not have gotten away with that second club trick, so the deception must be credited. Now South led a third club. West trumped with the jack and dummy overruffed. A spade to the ace put South back in and he led a fourth club. West ruffed with the queen whereupon South let a diamond go and the defense was held to two tricks.

Bachelor, 56, Casts Bread Upon Water, Gets Return In Los Angeles Skid Row

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A place of shabby bars and buck-a-day hotels, of empty buildings and idle men—that's East 5th Street. A place of fish houses and junk shops, dirty windows and trashy lots. A street that well-dressed folks avoid, where policemen go in pairs.

It's a skid row, like all the other skid rows the world over. But there's a difference.

This one is on the upgrade. The reason: a 56-year-old Swedish-born bachelor who spends his own money fixing up other people's eyesores.

There's no gimmick. Frank Bronson simply believes that if you cast your bread on the waters, "You're bound to get it back."

The idea is catching hold. "People seem to think that just because it's skid row, everything should go to the dogs," Bronson says. "That's absolutely wrong. You can have pride of ownership down here, too."

"All it takes is one person to get the ball rolling," he says. "If somebody just starts, others will follow."

Bronson isn't talking through his hat.

He bought the seven-story Hotel Morris 2½ years ago.

"You can't imagine how bad it was," he says. "No paint, dirty, run down. The cops used to live here, practically."

He couldn't stand the mess. A contractor and carpenter himself.

He soon had carpenters, bricklayers, plumbers and painters swarming through the 160-room hotel. He planted trees out front and fired 40 per cent of his help for inefficiency and drunkenness. He cleaned out the bookies and bootleggers.

He wasn't out to make it a Biltmore—"just good and clean, nothing fancy."

His own house in order, he turned to his neighbors and suggested they paint their buildings, take down old signs and fix broken windows.

He was met with shrugs. "It's a nice idea, but—" they said.

Would they let him do these things then? Fine.

He paid wreckers to haul off a small ramshackle building already condemned by the city. He had six truckloads of debris hauled off a cluttered lot.

He hired four painters to scrape old paint from another building and apply two new coats. He had unsightly old signs taken down, broken windows repaired.

Nor did he stop with his own block. In the next block he has done the same on seven or eight buildings—and he's still going.

Bronson's work shows. And, he says, it pays.

"My occupancy rate has increased 100 per cent," he says. "The values have gone up 15 to 25 per cent already."

He came to this country when he was 20 with $25 in his pocket. The depression wiped him out but he started anew. Now he has almost $300,000 invested, although he drives a 1947 car.

Foreign coins were legal tender in the United States until 1897 when Congress acted to void their legality.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy, as an advocate of getting more Americans physically fit, doubtless has the support of the entire recreation industry.

This is a big affair with many facets.

And it may surprise some to learn that one group involved in recreation and lining up with the fitness objective includes lumber, paper, pulp, plywood, and other wood processing companies. They have commercial timberlands available for such use.

So it's with added interest they note today the President is urging Congress to make more public facilities and resources available for recreation and also to speed up forest development on federally owned lands.

The lumbermen may have joined in the recreation objective in recent years to relieve some of the pressure for seizing timberlands for public use. But, for whatever reason, they now open more than 50 million acres of their private lands for public recreation in one form or another.

One of their trade groups, American Forest Products Industries, says a survey of 518 companies owning 66.3 per cent of such commercial timberland shows the following usage:

Hunters can stalk more than 53.6 million of these acres in season.

Fishermen can try their luck on nearly 40,000 miles of streams on lands of companies owning 56.6 million acres; and Annual recreation visits to these company-owned lands total 6,057,660.

All the time the companies go right along growing trees or harvesting lumber.

The industry group notes that most of the land listed as open is for general public use, but that some of it is limited to community groups, sportsmen's clubs or in some cases to permit holders only.

On land owned by 107 of the companies are 303 public parks and picnic areas, some equipped with free overnight facilities and services.

Sometimes acreage is closed to hunting for various reasons, ranging from temporary preservation needs to fire prevention or logging safety, but this has been de-

Catamarans Stage Comeback On Waterfront At Waikiki

HONOLULU (AP)—The ancient Polynesian sailor would cock a pleased—and superior—eye at the Waikiki waterfront today.

He would see slickly painted and finished double-hulled catamarans—about the fastest sailboats in the world.

They are only descendants of the great double canoes of southwestern Pacific antiquity. The word catamaran comes from the Tamil words: catu—to tie; maram—log.

With them, our ancient sailor and his brown-skinned brothers built commerce among their islands. In times of war, they were battlements. In them the Polynesians undertook their vast migrations, navigational feats which puzzle man today.

The racial descendants of these canny men of the past are making capital of their invention, for fun and profit.

Fittingly, Waikiki has played a major role in the evolution of the modern catamaran. It has become the lively workhorse of the tourist trade.

Some 15 private and commercial catamarans—called cats—ply the light green waters of leeward Oahu, among the more than 200 conventional single-hulled sailboats here.

The cat is fastest of all. With only the boiling white froth of her twin-wakes to mark her passing, the graceful cat slashes in silence through the sea at racing speeds; jet age thrills for an ancient sport.

Give the cat a fresh wind on her quarter, with a following sea, and it will surge ahead at 30 miles an hour. Under the same conditions, a modern sloop might do 11.

Seven cats sail-for-pay directly from Waikiki Beach. Most of them charge $4.50 a head for an hour's sail about a mile offshore, from Diamond Head to a mile west.

On boat days they go out to sail rings around the great liners, to the delight of the passengers.

As the mailhins (newcomers) thrill to the express train speed and the stog of the wind-driven spindrift, the beach boy crew trails lines aft for fish.

It is not rare for them to haul aboard a 5-pound aku (bonito) and eat it sliced raw, Japanese style.

Most of the catamarans here are owned by industrialist-hotelman Henry J. Kaiser. A Coast Guard officer estimated that Kaiser has spent $1.2 million on his pink cats.

He built the 100-foot Ale Ale Kai V, largest cat in the world. It hauls tourists to Pearl Harbor at $7.50 a head and is operated by a company which bought the craft from Kaiser.

This leviathan of the Catamaran world draws only 50 inches of water. Smaller cats, of the 40-foot variety, draw only 15 inches or so.

This shoal-draft feature permits the boats to sail over the perilous coral reefs of Waikiki, often with hairline clearances.

TOP COACHES MET BEFORE
PITTSBURGH (AP)—When football coaches Jordan Oliver of Yale and Warren Woodson of New Mexico State met here to receive their coach of the year awards it was not the first time they met.

They met three previous times while Oliver coached Loyola of California eleven and Woodson had Hardin-Simmons teams. Oliver's teams won the three games. Scores: 39-35, 31-20 and 14-13.

IDUN HAS A SISTER
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Idun, a champion filly a few years ago, has a full sister at Hialeah preparing for her 2-year-old campaign. She is Iduna who was bred at Leslie Combs' Spendthrift Farm.

In Scandinavian mythology, Iduna was the guardian of the golden apples which the Gods tasted as often as they wanted to retain their youth.

Indiana, Illini Attempt To Salvage Prestige In Battle For Fifth Place

Television: Big Ten Regional Network.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Indiana, a team which was given pre-season ranking as a Big Ten title contender, and Illinois, an "unknown quantity" in forecasts, attempt to salvage prestige in a battle for fifth place at Bloomington, Ind., Saturday afternoon. The game will be televised via the Big Ten regional network.

The Illini will try to break a three-game losing streak, which has come on the heels of a winning string of four straight. The Hoosiers seek to rebound after a narrow loss to undefeated Ohio State Monday night.

Illinois Bill Burwell, a young pivot man with promising potential, will have his hands full Saturday, guarding Olympic squad member Walt Bellamy. Bellamy has been one of the Big Ten's best centers for three seasons, and should have a few tricks which will be new to the Illini sophomore.

In turn, Illinois Coach Harry Combes will be showing off his talented sophomore forward Dave Downey, who now leads the team in almost every department. Downey has been scoring almost 24 points per game over the last two weeks of action, and is regarded as the league's top new comer.

Downey will team with senior John Wessels at forward, but the starting guard assignments are more indefinite. The Illini have had backcourt troubles recently; Jerry Colangelo has not been playing with his usual accuracy. Bill Small has been playing under handicap of an injured left wrist, and the reserves have not come up to expectations.

Actually, the possibility of change at guard is remote, since most of the current candidates have been given starting opportunities. One possible switch is conversation

WARM UP FOR BATON ROUGE OPEN

BATON ROUGE, La. (P) — Four leading champion Arnold Palmer and 166 other professional and amateur golfers warmed up Thursday for the $20,000 Baton Rouge Open under bright sunshine.

The course at Sherwood Forest Country Club, local pro Johnny Whitten said, "is playing real good today and should play beautiful tomorrow. Where we were wading around in water before, there is no water at all today."

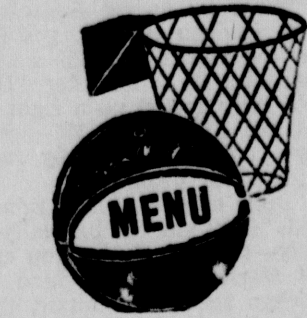

There are 163 pros and 13 amateurs entered in the tournament. It begins Friday a day late, because players wanted a chance to practice on the 6,700-yard, par 70 layout after heavy rains soaked the closed course for a week.

Special Run By Kerr Highlights Quadrangular Track Meet Saturday

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — A special 600-yard run, featuring former Illinois middle distance star George Kerr, highlights among the regular track meet, among the Illini, Northwestern, Purdue, and Wisconsin in Illinois Armory at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

Running against Kerr will be another former Illini trackman, Ted Beasly, Northwestern's fine middle distance runner Doug Gilbert, and Illinois freshmen Mike Dundy, Arlington Heights, and Mike Holbrook, Downers Grove. Dundy finished second in the 440-yard dash in 1960 state high school championships. The special 600-yard feature is scheduled for 2 p.m.

An outstanding field of pole vaulters highlights the four-team meet. It includes six vaulters who have cleared 13 feet. Two of the six, Purdue's Mike Johnson and Larry Ruch, have 14-foot vaults to their credit. Illinois' Terry Harshbarger and Dave Rudolph,

Name 1st Round Sites Of NCAA College Tourneys

NEW YORK (AP) — Chicago, Cape Girardeau, Mo., Clarksville, Tenn., and Crawfordville, Ind., Thursday were named first round sites for the NCAA's small college basketball championship tourneys. The announcement by Harvey Chrouser, athletic director at Wheaton College, was made through the National Collegiate Service Bureau here. Chrouser is chairman of the NCAA selection committee.

Four sites remained to be selected. Chrouser also named 12 additional clubs that had qualified to try for the title.

The eight winners of the regional tournaments March 10-11 will meet for the title round March 15-17 at Evansville, Ind.

Evansville College (10-15), the defending champion, will compete in the Great Lakes regional at the University of Chicago (15-3). The others in this regional are MacMurray (17-5) and Lincoln, Mo., University (18-5).

Trinity University of San Antonio, Tex., with an 18-5 record, was put in the Cape Girardeau, Mo., foursome that already included the Southeast Missouri Teachers (19-2) of that city and Southern Illinois (21-4). A fourth team will be named later.

Youngstown (20-4) was named to the Midwest regional at Wabash College, Crawfordville, Ind. Previously named were Wabash (14-5) and South Carolina State (19-4). The fourth team will be the Ohio Athletic Conference champion, to be determined in a tournament on March 4.

Austin Peay (18-7), Chattanooga (16-6), Belmont Abbey (15-5) and Kentucky Wesleyan (13-7) make up the field that will play for the south central regional title in the Austin Peay gym at Clarksville, Tenn.

Prairie View (22-1) was assigned to the Midwest regional. Another at-large quintet will be chosen later. The field will be completed by the champions from the North Central and Midwest conferences. No site has been picked.

Neither was a site designated for the Northeast regional although Williams College (18-2) already has earned a berth in that field. Fairfield (14-3), champion of the Tri-State Conference, has qualified for the Eastern regional. Others will be the Mid-Atlantic and Mason-Dixon Conference champions and an at-large team.

Two at-large teams plus the California Collegiate and Far West Conference champs will make up the Pacific Coast regional foursome. No site has been picked.

Famous Rowing Coach Dies Of Heart Attack

PHOENIX, Ariz. (P) — Russell S. (Rusty) Callow, famed collegiate and Olympic rowing coach, died of a heart attack Wednesday night at the age of 70.

Death came to Callow in his sleep at a Phoenix resort, where he was spending a month's vacation with his wife, Dorothy. He had been in ill health for several years.

Callow produced probably the greatest eight-oared crew the world has ever known—the Navy winner of the 1952 Olympics at Helsinki.

A University of Washington graduate, he was captain of its crew in 1915, then served as coach from 1922 to 1928, winning three national championships.

He then went to the University of Pennsylvania, where in a 22-year stay he tutored the only two oarsmen ever to win the Amateur Athletic Union's coveted Sullivan Award.

They were Jack Kelly and Joe Burk, present Penn rowing coach, both winners in the Diamond Sculls at Henley-on-the-Thames.

Bluffs And Meredosia Clash Tonight For District Championship

CHAMBERSBURG — The host Indians and favored Bluffs advanced to the finals of the Meredosia-Chambersburg District Tournament and will clash for the title and a berth in the Rushville Regional in the third meeting this season between the two schools at 7:30 p.m. Friday night.

Coach Jim Toricelli's Indians played heads up ball all the way to defeat East Pike, 59-50, for their 10th victory against 11 setbacks. The winners went into the fourth stanza with a commanding 20 point lead, 51-31, and played it safe and sure in the final eight minutes of play. The Indians got excellent performances from Clarence Hannel, who scored 22 points, from Jerry Bradley, who was a stand-out on defense, and from Gary Rausch, who did a terrific job sweeping the boards. Gary Hest and Jim Ottwell led the scoring for coach George Lemons' Panthers with 16 points each. Coach George Danhaus' Bluejays, the defending district champs, conquered St. Mary's in the opening quarter with a 23-point barrage and went on to a 67-45 decision without any threat. Burl Fargo led the winning attack with 21 points. Ed Ryan, a standout all season for St. Mary's with a 23-point game average, pumped in 22 points for game laurels.

Bluffs owns two commanding triumphs over the Indians this season but rest assured the Meredosia-Chambersburg quintet won't be thinking about the past when they tangle in their usual grudge contest tonight.

KANSAS CITY (P) — Mansfield (Pa.) State scored three easy victories last week to become the only unbeaten basketball team among the 460 members of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics. It has won 16.

Jackson (Miss.) State edged the only other previously unbeaten team, Prairie View (Tex.) A&M, 100-98. Prairie View had won 22 straight.

Leroy Dick of Tabor (Kan.) College, who became eligible to play this semester and has played in 16 games, was named NAIA leader in percentages in two departments at the close of last week. He had averaged 34.3 points and 24 rebounds per game. Fifty of his points came in Tabor's 98-86 victory over St. Mary of the Plains.

John Bradley of Lawrence (Mich.) Tech, the scoring leader a week ago, dropped to second place with a 32.9 average. But Bradley had scored 725 points in 22 games compared with Dick's 206 in six games.

Anthony Solomon of St. Paul's (Va.) moved into first place in field goal shooting at .623, just ahead of last week's leader, Norman Gher of the University of Tennessee's Martin Branch, at .617.

On a percentage basis, Harvey Rosen of Wilkes (Pa.) remained the free throw leader at .909 on 50 of 55.

Oglethorpe (Ga.) University was headed for top defensive honors for the third straight year. It had allowed only 46.2 points a game. The offensive leader, Lawrence Tech, had averaged 95.7 points a game.

Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants hit .299 in Candlestick Park last season but had a .338 batting average on the road.

Macomb Rotary Honors Hanson

Ray Hanson, Athletic Director of Western Illinois University, was one of six citizens honored at a McDonald County Recognition Day held by the Macomb Rotary Club.

"More Taffy—Less Epitaphy" was the theme of the meeting. "A rose to the living, rather than a floral tribute to the departed. Tell people their deserved praise to their face, rather than to their relatives."

Ray is a retired Colonel of the Marine Corps—Co-ordinator of the ten second rule in basketball—Past President of the N.A.I.A.—in the Basketball Hall of Fame—elected to the Legion of Valor (only 1200 members in the United States). He is in Who's Who in American Education and Who's Who in the Midwest—he is a Past President of the Macomb Rotary Club and has been elected District Governor of Rotary for 1961-62 when he will have 47 clubs and 2500 Rotarians under his jurisdiction.

Mansfield State Only Unbeaten Team In NAIA

Sophomore Dave Downey of Canton is well along the road to becoming the highest-scoring basketball player in University of Illinois history. Downey has scored at a 23.7-point-per-game clip in last three Illini tilts to move his season's average to 16.2.

Current Illinois career record is 1,299 by center John Kerr in 1952-54. The single season best is 556 by Kerr in 1954. And the most points for an Illini sophomore is 337, by John Wessels in 1959 and Governor Vaughn in 1958.

Downey is virtually assured of a new high for a first-year man. He currently has 207 points. With five games to go, he could leave the 327-point record far behind and soar over 400 points for the season.

Since the former Illinois All-Star had some low totals in early games this year, it is logical to assume that he could pick up his pace enough to set a new career mark over three campaigns. It takes a 433-point-per-season average to tie the existing record.

The record for one season is more of a problem for Downey, but his place in recent tilts extended to a 24-game schedule would justify it. Whether that is possible in the future, when he will be a marked man, remains to be seen.

Downey's contributions to the Illini team extend beyond scoring. His defense has shown steady improvement, he is doing a better job of feeding the big pivot men, and he tops the Illini in all important rebounding column. In 19 games, he has grabbed off 212 rebounds, an average of 11.2 per game.

To make an almost perfect story complete—Downey has a 4.65 grade average (5.0 is perfect) in the college of commerce and business administration.

Brewer Of Cubs Stages Comeback, Holds No Grudge

MESA, Ariz. (P) — Jim Brewer, the Chicago Cub pitcher newly knocked out of baseball by one Billy Martin punch, today waved the olive branch as he toiled in an amazing comeback.

Six months after Martin swung his eye-crunching blow, Brewer now is hurling smoothly in the Cubs' advanced spring training drills following a 9-2 record during the winter's Arizona Instructional League campaign.

A small scar near the corner of his right eye is the only visible reminder of that devastating clout in a Cincinnati Red-Cub game Aug. 6—a punch that caved in Brewer's right cheekbone and damaged the flesh around his eye. The injury required several operations and a 23-day hospital stay.

"It's all over with," said Brewer, "and I don't hold any grudge against Martin. I want to forget the whole thing and just get on with my pitching. The main thing is that my career isn't going to suffer."

Brewer, who was considered perhaps the outstanding performer in the Arizona Instructional League season, got into the lineup with the fiery Martin in his fifth start after reporting to the Cubs July 14 from Houston.

Afterward, Cub owner P. K. Wrigley, in behalf of Brewer and the Cubs, filed a million dollar suit against the Reds and Martin, who since has joined the Milwaukee Braves.

"The suit's up to the club and my lawyers," Brewer said today. "If I had lost my eye, I would have felt differently, but my vision is the same as it was before, 20-15."

What will go on in the minds of Martin and Brewer the first time they face in a Cub-Braves game this year will be something to guess.

Bonnies In Easy Triumph, 99-57

OLEAN, N. Y. (AP) — Second-ranked St. Bonaventure steamrolled over outclassed Siena College Thursday night, 99-57, to win its 90th straight basketball victory in the Olean Armory and stretch its season record to 21-1.

The Indians from Loudonville never had a chance after the Bonnies' big guns, Tom Stith and Fred Crawford, ran the count to 11-1 in the opening minutes. Each racked up 27 for the night.

IC, ISD Play Finals Out Of Town; Pittsfield Hosts JHS Saturday

The 1960-61 regular basketball season is rapidly dwindling for Jacksonville quintets and the proof of this statement can be found by glancing at the basketball menu. There is only one local contest on the slate for this weekend and that is the Winchester game at Jacksonville High Friday night. This will be JHS' final home contest although it is a regional host next week. Another Friday night contest of local interest is the ISD at White Hall game in the finale of the season for both teams.

Saturday night, Coach John Chapman's Crimsons will 'er up at Pittsfield against Toby Smith's fine ball club which is beginning to hit its stride. Illinois College also calls it quits Saturday at McKendree College in Lebanon, Ill. MacMurray has two games remaining on its cage agenda, a home date with Augustana next Tuesday and a Saturday engagement at Lincoln University.

Winchester Here
Coach Jack Renfro's Winchester Wildcats make their Bowl debut Friday night in a closing contest with JHS' Crimsons at 8:15 p.m. The Wildcats, who are favored to win the Jacksonville Regional, have slipped a little the last several weeks because of illness and injuries. Their last two starts produced victories but the wins were of the squeaker variety, a one point decision over White Hall and a five point victory over Roodhouse.

Winchester has an impressive 21 win, two loss record counting its third straight Illinois Valley Conference Tournament crown and a third consecutive Winchester Invitational Tournament title. Renfro lost a key performer in forward Bill Robinson this week because of a bad knee and it is the second straight year that the knee kayaked Robinson for regional duty. Renfro's biggest concern is getting Bill Brookhouse back into playing form. Brookhouse has been slowed up with shin-splints and the only cure is rest but he is a game competitor and Renfro has had his troubles trying to corral the leading scorer.

Winchester's starting lineup will probably consist of Brookhouse, John Schofield, Eddie Dolan, Dewey Savage and Russell Gregory or Ronnie Slagle. The Wildcats beat JHS last year, 69-62.

Chapman is expected to go with Chip Baldwin, Ron Yates, Ron Tomhave, Bill Sims and Ken Norton or Rich Sweeney. The Crimsons are 6-12 on the season. A preliminary contest is scheduled for 6:30 p.m.

Close With Saukees
Saturday evening, Illinois College's Blueboys will journey to Lebanon to meet McKendree College in the final game of the season for the Mount Ave. quintet. McKendree, presently leading the Prairie College Conference, has compiled a 9-0 conference record and will attempt to add the Blueboys to their perfect record.

In their first encounter with the Blueboys, McKendree overpowered the IC five by a 70-54 score; however, the Blueboys have come alive in their last three games and have been consecutive in their wins over Eureka, Greenville, and Blackburn.

"Being action for the last time in his college career will be senior guard, Jimmie Joe Costello who is presently averaging 10.2 points per game. Costello, a Jacksonville product playing for Routt, has been a mainstay for Coach Merril all season and his last next year will possibly be a decided one."

Downstate Prep Notes

By JOHN CAMPBELL
Tom Young has played two years for West Aurora high and he moved from Pekin during his sophomore year. Tom's Dad is a tool and die maker. Tom is a catcher from Peoria to Aurora's Caterpillar tractor plant.

Young played in the state tournament during his sophomore season as Aurora West won second place.

Art Eastery and Bill Garner, former Lincoln (East St. Louis) basketball stars, are playing at Portland U. and recently lost to Notre Dame University. Garner was a mid year graduate two years ago and the 68 ace starred for Coach "Little Tree" Harris.

Ron Zager of DePue has been declared ineligible at the U. of Iowa and he received a standing ovation during the Quincy high four team Holiday tourney in 1960. Streator high school is anxious to play in a Holiday tourney next December. The Bulldogs were building this season and should be tougher next year.

Frank Stevenson, 6-7 senior standout, is the star performer at Joppe high this season. During his freshman season he was 6-5 and his brother, Billy Joe, then a sophomore, was declared ineligible for basketball competition at Seymour, Indiana high school. The Indiana high school athletic association held a hearing at Indianapolis and found that undue influence was used to get the player's family to move to Indiana.

The late Gay Kintner, veteran Decatur high basketball coach, passed away a year ago during a high school game in Decatur. He was one of the few mentors to have a gymnasium named after him while he was still directing a team. His fine Decatur high team won three State championships.

Shabbona high was the "Little David" team a few years ago under Coach Francis Wagner, now in his first year at Crystal Lake high. Geneva high might be the team to beat in the Aurora regional tourney next week. Haskell Tison, 6-11 giant, is the high scoring member for the Vikings.

Russ Ahearn led Hebron to the 1952 State title and he is teaching at Streator high school where his son is playing on the cage team. Francis McInerney is the coach at Streator high and he is a former athlete at LaSalle-Peru high and Western Illinois U.

Mel Myers has been ousted at the University of Illinois by Coach Elliott for disciplinary reasons and it is probable that he will never play any more football at the Champaign campus. He was a fine passer, punter and ground gainer for the Illini the past two years.

Johnson, who has seen his Illini win seven indoor and 10 outdoor Big Ten titles, doesn't consider his current team a title contender, and he adds, "I don't see how anyone can come close to Michigan."

Three Olympic performers will compete in the meet. The Wolverines have two of them, in Legs who competed for Canada, and Robinson, who ran on the Bahamas team. Illinois captain Paul Foreman, who broad jumped at the British West Indies team, is the third.

The Big Ten Indoor Championships are being held at Illinois for the first time since 1958. Tickets are on sale now by mail to Athletic Association Ticket Office, 102 Illini Hall, Champaign, Ill. Preliminaries, general admission, $1.00, finals, all seats reserved, $2.00.

WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO BABY JANE
By Henry Farrell

XXIX
There was a stranger in the house, someone perhaps who would save her. From below came the muted sound of laughter, this followed by the brief hiss of running water. The man laughed again, by himself. If she could only let him know that she was there, that she needed his help!
Thinking was actually painful to her; her mind seemed almost bruised with weariness. She breathed deeply, trying to concentrate upon the fresh air and the revitalizing effect it was having upon her responses. Still strong in her mind was the thought that it would be so much pleasanter just to forget everything, to give up the struggle and drift back into sleep—and death. There would be no more bother then, no more of this awful weariness; it would be over. But then there was a faint crash from below, as if a glass had been dropped, and she was jarred into renewed alertness.
A crash. The thought came to her spontaneously, prompted by the sound; what she wanted to do was make a noise, knock something over, make a loud and startling crash. The kitchen was almost directly below.
The tray! Jane had brought her lunch into the room when she had arrived and found her at the window. She had put it down—she'd had a glimpse of it there—yes, on the nightstand. Within easy reach. If Jane had not remembered to take it away again!
Rolling herself as best she could to the left, she felt for the table and the tray. The tray was there. It was there!
Almost instantly her hand found the cold metal and caught hold of it. Her pulse quickened with a heavy drumming in her ears.
She lay there, her cheek pressed deep into the mattress, her hands still anchored on the edge of the tray. Tears started again in her eyes. And then, abruptly, there came a loud bark of laughter from down below. Instantly she tightened her fingers on the tray, and rolling as she did so, pulled.
The dishes, the silver, the glassware cascaded to the floor in one brief din. Then the tray itself struck upon all the rest with a crash that resounded through the darkness like a clap of thunder. . . . It was done, and the silence descended as suddenly and shockingly as the noise. Drawing her aching arms back to the bed, Blanche lay back, gasping for breath, listening . . .
"I've got to have the money you promised me. And I want it tonight."
Edwin had meant to say it, and just that bluntly, directly when saw her. In the first place, he wanted to get it over with, and in the second, he was determined to put their relationship firmly on the businesslike level at which it belonged. Now that he had finally left Del, there would be no more toying to weak-minded, neurotic old women.
Despite his hard determination, however, he had suffered a collapse of courage; it was harder to make financial demands on a woman than he had the excuse that Jane Hudson, in her present state, was hardly in the mood to discuss business. Still he was determined that she would give him the money. A way to accomplish his purpose would surely turn up sooner or later.

He looked across the table at Jane Hudson who was babbling at him with vaporish incoherence.
"We'll be on Ed Sullivan!" Jane Hudson crowed, gasping out the words through diminishing bursts of laughter. "But he'll have to put up a fight to get us. Shove off, Ed—we'll say—you can't get Baby Jane Hudson for peanuts!"
"Don't bother us, Ed," Edwin said, "until you can be really—truly—serious. Maybe you can get Marlene for that kind of chicken feed. Or Frankie. But Baby Jane and Maestro Flagg—are you kidding?" At this, Edwin himself was dissolved into gales of mirth.
"No," she said, "no." Her eyes filled with tears, and Edwin felt a charge of anger that she should want to spoil his fun. "It isn't right to laugh. . . ."
"Oh, come on, come on!" Edwin said crossly. "You said all you needed was a friend."
"Promise?"
"Not to—stop being my friend?"
"Yes, sure, I promise."
Jane Hudson spread her hands in a gesture of finality upon the table, and when she looked up at him her eyes seemed to hold an expression of absolute sobriety. In preparation for what she was about to say, she moistened her lips nervously with her tongue. And then, in that moment, it came. The crash. A calamitous, smashing sound almost directly above them. Edwin, startled, leaped to his feet.
"Holy smoke!" he said.
"What was that?"

2 Rail Giants All But Decide To Combine

CHICAGO (AP)—Two Western rail giants which twice have backed away from merger, all but decided Thursday to combine operations.
Directors of the Chicago and North Western Railway and the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad asked their managements to have a unification plan ready when they meet again, separately but on the same day, March 16.
The merger of services in 15 Midwest and Western states would put the biggest truck mileage in the nation under single management—21,825 miles.
Leo T. Crowley, chairman of the Milwaukee and North Western Chairman Ben W. Heineman, in a joint statement said that the transportation business is becoming increasingly competitive. Efficiency and low costs to the shippers have become paramount.
"We believe," they said, "that the Milwaukee and the North Western together can bring to bear a vigorous and healthy competitive influence of benefits to all sectors of the public interest xxx."
SPEED SKATING WIN
OSLO (AP)—Henk Van Der Grift, the Netherlands' world titleholder, won the 1,500-meter (metric mile) speed skating race Thursday night at Bislet Stadium.
The 25-year-old Dutchman crossed the finish line in 2 minutes, 19.5 seconds, beating Herman Struts of Austria by a narrow margin. Andre Koupranoff of France was third.

Dirksen To Offer Rights Bill, Says None On Kennedy List

WASHINGTON (AP)—Noting that President Kennedy hasn't asked for one, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said Thursday he would "unfurl a civil rights bill" in a couple of weeks.
Dirksen, after a conference of Senate and House GOP leaders, said he would introduce his bill "in the absence of any clear indication the administration is going to submit anything."
Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, the House Republican leader, joined Dirksen in giving at Kennedy's omission of civil rights in his recent list of 16 most-wanted bills.
The list included bills on minimum wage, unemployment compensation, health care for the aged, federal aid to education, Social Security revisions and other fields.
Dirksen said he had expected Kennedy to include "something in the general field of civil rights and the revision of Senate Rule 22" to make it easier to shut off a Senate filibuster.
Kennedy has indicated he intends for the present to rely primarily on executive actions which may be taken under present laws.
The Illinois senator said his civil rights bill would cover proposals to give statutory authority to the equal jobs opportunity commission and to give federal aid to school districts to help them desegregate.
Halleck said he personally wouldn't introduce a bill in the House.
But he said some of those who recently advocated enlarging the Rules Committee had argued that

New York Stock Market

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Extremely heavy trading prevailed in the stock market early this afternoon as it churned ahead narrowly on balance.
The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 40 at 237.50 with industrials up 1.10, rails down .10 and utilities up .20. Gains of most key stocks were small, some extending to a point or so. A few more losers crept into the list as trading wore on.
The ticker tape lagged as much as six minutes behind trading most of the morning and volume for the first two hours was 2.12 million shares compared with 2.21 million Thursday when the day's full total was the biggest in 5 1/2 years.
Many specially-situated stocks were active, especially those related to recent Washington developments.
Airlines were generally higher now that the strike against most airlines was over. Selected gains among aircraft-missiles, steels, motors, chemicals and base metals helped the average.
The Kennedy administration's anti-recession policy, with accent on aid to education, home building and buying, development of natural resources and more defense spending was reflected in stocks related to these areas.
Some very large blocks were traded in favored issues from the start. As the session wore on, Rexall rose 3/4 to 4 1/2 on a huge transaction of 52,600 shares and extended its gain to about 2. Brunswick advanced 1/4 to 58 on 23,300 shares and also ran the gain to 2. Polaroid jumped about 5 points. Texas Instruments more than 2 and American Machine & Foundry more than a point.
San Diego Imperial was fractionally higher and heavily traded. Fairbanks Whitney continued active and up slightly.
Johns-Manville (ex dividend) ran up 3 points or so. Ford picked up about 2 as auto industry output was scheduled to rise. Zenith jumped more than 2.
Small losses were shown by DuPont, Chrysler, Goodyear and Republic Aviation. U.S. Gypsum and Air Reduction lost about a point.
The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.18 at 655.60. Corporate bonds were a shade higher. U.S. government bonds declined.

Say 'Operation Abolition' Film May Have Errors

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Protestant and orthodox leaders today prepared an advisory to show the widely circulated film, "Operation Abolition," without presenting supplementary facts about it.
The step was authorized by the National Council of Churches, which voiced misgivings about the fairness of the film.
It deals with student demonstrations in protest against hearings of the House Committee on Un-American Activities in San Francisco last spring, and depicts the demonstrations as Communist-led.
The film is being exhibited in many cities—at schools, clubs, churches, universities and other places. About 700 copies have been sold at $100 each by a Washington, D.C., company.
After a spirited two-hour session, the National Council's general board took action Thursday questioning charges made in the film, and also whether it contains "error of fact and interpretation."
The council, comprising 34 denominations with 40 million members, said it acted because "Christianity can for truth and justice in all acts of all agencies of government."
Rep. Francis Walter, D-Pa., chairman of the House committee, appears in the film, along with other committee members.
The church representatives expressed concern about accusations in the film "reflecting adversely upon the reputations of students" and about the film's "effect upon freedom of expression" by implying that a crisis of the House committee is Communist-inspired.
Herluf Jensen, of New York City, executive secretary of the National Student Christian Federation, said there was "no evidence of student violence whatever" in the San Francisco affair, as indicated by the film.
Church delegates, who viewed the film Wednesday night before acting on it the next day, said it "does not contribute to a realistic understanding of communism and its dangers to the United States."

Gov. Kerner Fires 200 State Employees In Economy Move

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Gov. Otto Kerner said Thursday that since he has been in office he has fired about 200 state employees as part of a "Spartan economy" program to reduce expenditures.
About 35 to 40 of them were ground caretakers in state parks. Kerner said they were temporary employees hired last year but kept on even though they had little to do.
"There is no necessity for these people except in the growing season," he told a news conference. "There will be no replacements until parks and memorials need them."
The other dismissals involved jobs which are being abolished permanently, he said.
The governor said he hoped that by such economies, plus lower deficiency appropriations being sought than expected for public aid and school aid, the state can get through the current budget period without a financial strain.
Before he became governor, he said he had been told public aid would require $85 million and aid to grade and high schools $16 million to carry them through June 30.
Instead, he said, the public aid bill will be $67 million and schools $5 million.
"Through the cut in deficiencies and Spartan economy we may—and I say may—be able to get over the hill," Kerner declared.
He said the critical period will come in May, when the state will cash to meet its bills for the present biennium ending June 30.
Kerner also said he will cut out use of state cars by employees under his jurisdiction who are not entitled to them.
He said he wants to know who has cars, what justification there is for having them, and if they are being used for other than official purposes.
Kerner declined to go into the tax program he is working on for the 1961-63 biennium beginning July 1.
He said definite legislation on taxes is being drafted, that experts are helping him but that he wouldn't announce it until he submits his budget in the spring.
On other matters, the governor said:
Policing of organized gambling is a local responsibility but if there is any indication of a breakdown in local law enforcement, it is the state's responsibility to step in.
He has taken no position on a bill in the legislature for the state to purchase the Sangamon County Courthouse in Springfield and convert it into a Lincoln shrine.
Neither has he taken a stand on whether to permit beer at the State Fair, banned by former Gov. William G. Stratton.
He favors extending a one cent per package cigarette tax so the revenue will go for general state purposes after Korean bonus claims are paid.

Floods Rout Over 5,000

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP) — The sudden death Thursday night of a juror's husband will delay the appearance on the witness stand of Chester (Rocky) Weger, on trial for murder in the slaying of three matrons in Starved Rock State Park.
Weger was scheduled to take the stand in his own defense Friday.
But the death of Ralph Rinker, a farmer and husband of Mrs. Amy E. Rinker, 68, one of seven women on the jury, caused Circuit Judge Leonard Hoffman to halt further court sessions until Monday.
The jury has been locked up in an Ottawa hotel since the start of the trial early this month.
Prosecution and defense attorneys concurred with Judge Leonard that it would be agreeable for Mrs. Rinker to attend funeral services for her husband, provided she does not discuss the murder trial while separated from the other jurors.
Weger's attorney has told the jury that the defendant's own story of his whereabouts at the time of the brutal triple slaying will be his main defense.
The state is seeking the death penalty for Weger on a charge of murdering Mrs. Lillian Oetting, 50.
Mrs. Oetting and two of her Riverside neighbors, Mrs. Frances Murphy, 47, and Mrs. Mildred Lindquist, 50, were slain in Starved Rock State Park last March 14 while on holiday there.
Weger, 21, was a kitchen helper in the park lodge at the time and is accused of killing them in a robbery attempt. His alibi is that he was alone in the Pow Wow Room of the lodge the afternoon the women were killed.
Two other defense witnesses have been subpoenaed and are expected to precede Weger on the stand in LaSalle County Court Friday.
They are John Schalk, head of the state crime laboratory, and Dr. John E. Malone of Normal, who performed autopsies on the victims.
Among witnesses Thursday was Stanley Tucker of Oglesby, who was identified as a friend of Weger and a busboy at the lodge at the time of the slayings.
He told of going with Weger to St. Louis Canyon, the scene of the slayings, shortly after the bodies were found.
Tucker said, "He showed me where certain things were found. He showed me in the cave where the bodies were found."
Earlier Thursday, the defense called several Illinois state troopers as witnesses. They testified, however, that they never heard any threats made against Weger to coerce him to confess.
Weger signed two statements last Nov. 17 admitting the killing of the three women but later repudiated them, saying investigators threatened him with the electric chair if he remained silent.
Chief William H. Morris of the State Police testified that he assigned 30 men to the park after the bodies were found. He said he heard of no threats or witnessed no brutality after Weger was apprehended and charged with the killings.
Several other state policemen, including Capt. Emil Toffant, corroborated Morris' testimony.
Among other witnesses called Thursday was Mrs. Elva Heiman, LaSalle County auditor, who testified about costs involved in the investigation of the killings.

Move To Insure Complete Privacy For Kennedys

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has moved to prevent its cooks, maids, valets and household workers from writing or talking publicly about President and Mrs. John F. Kennedy.
They've all been asked to sign secrecy pledges, press secretary Pierre Salinger said Thursday.
It's a step to insure the President and his wife "will have privacy," Salinger explained after disclosure that all White House domestic and personal help were asked to sign statements that they would not write about their association with the Kennedys.
It all started when the President's press secretary refused to reveal the name of the White House chef. "I think there's a policy against naming help at the White House," he said.
A reporter, recollecting recent books and articles by ex-White House employees, noted that "cooks and chefs seem to have steadily indicated their willingness to identify themselves for pay at the time they leave the White House."
"I can assure you," Salinger said, "that none of these will. They have all signed a document saying they will not write any stories about their association with the Kennedys."
And, he added, "I believe that they agreed not to discuss any of their personal relationships with the President and Mrs. Kennedy."

Shut Down Cost In Millions

Flight Engineers International Association.
Kennedy made the announcement late Thursday at the White House. At his side was Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, who had a large part in bringing about the end of the walkout.
For Goldberg it was the second major strike he has had a personal hand in settling since he took office a month ago. His very first task was to end a strike of railroad firemen in New York City that had virtually cut off commuter rail service.
Six airlines — Pan American, American, Trans World, Eastern, National, and Flying Tigers — began cranking up their operations Thursday night. All were resuming many flights today and expected to be back to normal by Saturday or Sunday.
Western Air Lines, one of those struck by the engineers, refused to join the agreement.
That apparently left in force Western's announcement that the engineers would be fired and supplanted by pilots.
On the other hand Robert Hicks, spokesman for Western's flight engineers, said the men had been assured by Goldberg they would be included in the back-to-work settlement.
Western had announced it was firing its 130 flight engineers and hiring qualified pilots to replace them. This stand for a time held up reemployment to end the walkout on the other lines, with the union insisting the Western engineers had to be reinstated first.
But Kennedy amended his order setting up the three-man study commission to include Western. Ronald A. Brown, head of the engineers' union, said he considers that the inclusion of Western in the presidential orders means the engineers should be reinstated.
"I assume they are not going to defy the President," Brown said.
The cause of the strike was

Airplane Check For Speeders In Local Area

Speeders on Illinois highways will have to keep their chins up to detect State Troopers bent on reducing the number of traffic deaths and needless speeding on the highway.

State Police airplanes were out in force Thursday, flying circles around Jacksonville. From the airborne vantage point, speeders are clocked between the big white lines painted on highways throughout the state. The airplane simply notes the time required to pass the two lines with a stop watch, checks the time of day and calls a patrol car by radio to stop the speeder and issue a ticket.

On clear days, such as Thursday, the pilots can notify patrol cars of make and model of auto plus license numbers. Most of the speeders picked up by such methods are amazed with the accuracy. State Troopers are making a concentrated effort to enforce the 65 miles-per-hour speed limit in Illinois. It appears to be less difficult to watch the speedometer than to watch the front, rearview mirror and sky for troopers.

The signs will complete a pretty general overhauling and paint job of many downstreets and upstairs offices during the current winter. The paint job was done by prisoners in the county jail who volunteered to do the paint job rather than just sit around in the county bastille waiting for conclusion of their sentences.

Sheriff Howard Perdue was in charge of the working squad during most of the time the redecoration work was under way.

New TB Testing Method

The Morgan County Tuberculosis Association used for the first time in this area last week the Heaf test, a multiple puncture tuberculin skin test to simplify mass tuberculin testing.

Jefferson Grade school was the scene of the first use. The new case-finding device is a "sternedee" gun which is an improved multiple puncture apparatus for rapid intradermal tuberculin testing.

Based on the Heaf principle of multiple puncture, six needles contained within the sternedee cartridge are mechanically and painlessly used. The disposable multi-needle cartridge eliminates danger of cross infection and may be reesterilized. No dressing is required and it affords accurate interpretation averaging 250 readings per hour. Each test is uniform and is painless making it ideal for children.

Tuberculin testing was begun early in January in Morgan County and will continue through the month of March with follow-up routine readings and advice where necessary. The purchase of this new equipment and materials used by Dr. Morris Greenberg, shown giving the test to Rosalie Crawley, was made possible through the annual sale of Christmas Seals. Miss Ethel Swanson, center, District 117 school nurse, assists Dr. Greenberg.

CHICAGO (AP)—Good weather and holiday closing of state offices helped bring Illinois' unemployment compensation figure down to 190,872 last week.

A 23.7 per cent drop in new applications decreased compensation by 3.2 per cent, Robert W. Johnston, state labor director, said Thursday.

However, the total for the week ended Feb. 18 was 65.6 per cent above that for the corresponding week in 1960 and 4.3 per cent higher than that for the comparable period in 1958, the depth of that year's recession.

Johnston attributed last week's reduction partly to the closing of state unemployment offices Monday, Feb. 13, for Lincoln's birthday. The week's comparatively mild weather doubtless opened additional outdoor jobs, he said.

Johnston estimated 335,000 persons, or eight per cent of Illinois' labor force, were idle at the week's end. This figure includes those not eligible for jobless pay, those whose eligibility had expired and those who had not yet applied for compensation.

New applications numbered 20,362 last week compared with 26,723 the week ended Feb. 11.

This week 1,360 unemployed became eligible for additional benefits under a state amendment, Johnston said. The amendment extends the 26-week eligibility period when the percentage of idle covered by the compensation act passes 4.375 for two successive months.

Latest available figures show 6.4 per cent of persons eligible for coverage are jobless.

The apparel industry reported last week the most layoffs in one field—475. Other layoffs included 450 in primary metals work, 455 in metal product work, 150 in clay products manufacture, 160 in the leather industry, 155 in electrical equipment manufacture and 145 in machinery making.

WARNS CAPITAL FLEES AFRICA

STELLENBOSCH, South Africa (AP)—A leading gold and diamond magnate warned Thursday night that foreign capital is still fleeing white-ruled South Africa through fear and moral indignation.

'Had To Kill' Says Man Of Fatal Shooting

Emet said Waldorf, a former mental patient, works for station KBBT in Reno as an announcer-disc jockey.

Emet said Waldorf told him he came to Los Angeles on a bus Wednesday and walked the streets "looking for someone to kill." Several times, Emet quoted Waldorf as saying, he picked out a likely victim but at the last moment didn't shoot because "things just weren't right."
